Tobacco From the Seed to the Plug.

The seed is exceedingly small, about like that of the poppy, and grows in pods similar to the mullen. Each stalk has a great number of pods and a half dozen stalks will make seed enough for a large crop. These are sown in beds during January or February in fresh ground newly burnt off. At first the plants are quite small and tender, but soon gain size and strength for setting out.

TRANSPLANTING.

This is done about the first of May—the ground being first well prepared, fine and clean. The usual distance is three feet. Counting seventy yards square to the acre, each acre will set 4900 plants, or about 5000 as is usually counted. The planter is careful to get an early stand and as even a stand as possible, the importance of which is felt in the cutting and curing.

CULTIVATING, TOPPING AND SUCKERING AND WORMING.

The crop is ploughed two or three times—about like corn, chopped over if necessary after second ploughing, and hilled up carefully as the laying by operation. When the plants commence to put forth blossom shoots, they are carefully topped, leaving 6 or 8 or 10 or 12 leaves below, in proportion to the growth of the plant and the length of time expected to intervene before the coming of frost. Some of the planters practice the rule of leaving as many leaves below the topping as there are weeks to come before the usual time of frost: for instance, plants topped the 1st of August would have ten weeks till the middle of October the usual time for frost, hence ten leaves are left on each stalk. Other plants topped four weeks later would have only six leaves left on each stalk, so that both toppings may ripen as nearly as possible at the same time. Much intelligence is needed in the labor, as many plants are found smaller and weaker and cannot mature so many leaves, hence must be topped lower.

Soon after cutting off the tops, many suckers start out at the joints, which must be kept pulled out by hand, the whole field being gone over several times for this purpose. By this process the plant is prevented from seeding, a much larger growth of leaf is attained, and the nicotine that would have concentrated in the seed is forced into the leaves.

During growth, no animal feeds on it, as it is bitter, sticky, filthy and sickening. It is frequently cultivated without any inclosure.

The tobacco worm, which is about three inches long and green, is an ugly customer and the only enemy of the weed while green, and he very politely and seriously refuses to taste it after being cured. These worms eat it rapidly, soon are grown, then go into the ground and come out next Spring in the large tobacco fly which is ready just in time to deposit eggs on the young plants. The planter is compelled to have these worms picked off carefully several times during the summer.

BARNS.

It is usual to have the barns in the fields, each field having one, two or more barns according to size, and situated at convenient distances, so that the tobacco which is heavy when green, may be put into the barns without much hauling.—These are each about 20 feet square and 20 feet high, built of logs and daubed tight, and having five or six sets of joists, one above the other, about 3 feet between. The first set of joists is about 5 or six feet from the ground floor, on which the fires are built in curing. A small door is left in one side. These barns, scattered over the fields, give the tobacco country a cheerful neighborhood appearance.

CUTTING AND HANGING UP.

From the first to the middle of September cutting commences and continues till frost. And here at least 10 or 12 hands are needed in the field at the same time, otherwise the curing will not be even.—Each cutter goes around with a butcher knife, and accompanied by a boy who carries sticks 4 feet long. Each cutter carefully selects the ripest plants, splits down the stalk about two-thirds of the way from the top, cuts it off below the leaves and hangs it on the stick, held ready by the boy. When six or seven stalks are thus hung on the stick it is layed down and another held ready. The wagon comes on in the course of half an hour, allowing time for wilting, and loading the sticks on again takes them off at the barn. Continual study is needed here, so as to have each barn of the same grade. Each stick, if the plants are well grown, will make a pound after curing. Crops are generally considered to average one pound for every ten plants, or 500 pounds to the acre. One hand will cultivate some 4 acres. Great care is taken in hanging up the sticks into the barn, as every minutia of the work has much to do with the sale of the article after it is dry. Each barn will hold enough to make 6 or 800 pounds after curing.

CURING.

This is the most difficult and exciting part of the work, from the fact that the weed comes out after four days firing, worth 10 dollars per hundred if cured only red, or 95 dollars per hundred if cured yellow and bright.

After the tobacco has been hung up about 2 days so as to be wilted to a certain extent necessary, the fires are started under it, at regular distances. Charcoal is used so as to produce heat without smoke, and nine small fires are started and gradually enlarged until the third day, when they are made very hot in order to dry the stalks, and the tapered down the fourth or last day. The barn, the kind of tobacco, the fires, the hanging up, the state of the weather, are all circumstances entering into the success or failure of curing; hence the great difficulty and excitement to the farmer at this stage of the crop. Even after it is dry and yellow, if left in the barn in damp weather, the stalks gather moisture and "run" into the leaves, making them red, and hence worth less in the markets. Additional firing at such damp seasons does not always prevent the deterioration; nor is it always avoided by taking down from the barns and packing in bulk. The state of the weather and the the condition of the tobacco are often such as to cause the leaf to splotch or become streaked, thus lessening its value in market. The planter's success as a planter depends very largely upon his success in curing.

STRIPPING OUT AND GRADING.

We now enter the storage room, where the weed lays packed in bulk, the large ends of the stalks being outwards. The leaves one by one are taken from the stalks, and separated into three classes, Lugs, Wrappers and Fillers. Two three or four of the lower leaves are laid on the pile of lugs. Two, three, four or five of the brightest leaves are placed on the pile of wrappers. The other leaves usually the largest proportion, are placed on the pile of fillers. Some farmers go into a nicer distinction and dividing these classes again make the crop into five or six different grades. The leaves are then tied up into small bunches, pressed lightly into large hogsheads and headed up. It is then ready for the warehouse. Samples are kept out from each hogshead, or from each lot of the same grade by which the tobacco is sold and bought. In this condition the manufacturer takes it: but if the factory is on or near the farm, the barreling is not necessary. Before the existence of railroads, these barrels or hogsheads were frequently conveyed to market by attaching a pair of shafts and a mule, letting the barrel go rolling on the ground behind.

MANUFACTURING—STEMMING.

This is done mostly by women and children when the article is sufficiently damp or in case to prevent its crumbling. Again each leaf must be taken separately, and loosing the stem at the small end first, it is quickly pulled out and thrown aside. Then the flavoring is mixed into the bulk. This consists of liquorice, honey, molasses, &c., one or more or none at all. Now the leaf passes into another set of hands, more skilled, known as rollers. The fillers are placed into a roll, and this roll is continually lengthened at one end, and as fast as it is long enough it is cut off from the other end, the usual length of a plug.—These rolls are wrapped on the outside with the bright yellow leaves, known as wrappers, and each roll is almost exactly the same weight, either pound or half pound, as selected for the plugs. These rolls are then placed into iron moulds, all exactly the same length, breadth and thickness. The press brought down with the screw and lever power makes the rolls into plugs of uniform size. The flat plugs are then put into the ordinary tobacco boxes, each having about 100 pounds, or 50 pounds if half boxes. The boxes are now marked with the name of the manufacturer, the location, grade of tobacco, &c. After this the revenue stamp is put on, $82 worth on each hundred pound box.—This must be done, under heavy penalty, before the box can be removed from the factory.

AMOUNT AND VALUE OF CROP.

In 1860, North Carolina produced over 32,000,000 pounds of tobacco, as shown by the census. The crop of 1870 is probably larger. This crop, at an average of 25 cents per pound, would be worth over $8,000,000. The tobacco lands lay in the middle and western portion of the State, including about half the State, Granville, Person, Caswell, Rockingham and Stokes counties, bordering on the Virginia line, are thought to be as fine if not the finest tobacco lands in the United States. Many other counties are probably just as good, but not as yet so well developed.

INTELLIGENCE OF PLANTERS.

Hardly any other crop induces so much intelligence as the cultivation of tobacco; and, hence, planters are generally noted for being men of sound judgment, decision of character, close observers, sharp traders and liberal minded men. All the planters are more or less traders and usually sharp enough to insure success in life. All men who deal in the article long are almost necessarily active, shrewd business men.

OUTRAGES IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Radical rule is producing a terrible condition of affairs in South Carolina. The Charleston News of the 26th ult., says:

"The Sumter papers come to us containing accounts of new outrages committed by the Radical negroes. They draw no fancy pictures, but tell, as soberly as they can, the plain unvarnished truth. This is the record of one week's work:

2. A barn is burned down, and on the same night an attempt is made to fire the home place of the owner, which is some distance off.

3. A house occupied by a white family is fired into by negroes, and this is the signal for burning down the barns and stables containing the whole crop of the year.

"These acts of lawlessness show what is the temper of the Radical negroes; while the disposition of the whites is shown by the fact that they have already held two public meetings for the purpose of denouncing the disturbers of the public peace, and for declaring their determination of using their individual and collective efforts against mob law and in favor of good order. The negroes burn and ravage every night; the whites, insulted as they have been, still plead for peace."

CURIOUS ADVENTURE OF A MECHANIC.—The Louisiana Savings Bank is building a large vault. Admission to it is gained through large wrought-iron doors, to which are affixed patent locks. These locks were put in order by a locksmith named Tympe. After arranging the fastenings on the door, he lit a candle and proceeded inside the vault to see how they fitted. Closing the door after him the eccentric catch of the lock fell, locking him in. Those upon the outside could render him no assistance, since it was a combination lock, and no one knew the numbers at which it was set. In this narrow cell, shut in by the four walls of the vault and the huge iron door, the man felt as if he was buried alive. The only means by which he could obtain air or drink was through a small hole in the door, not the twentieth of an inch in diameter. The atmosphere of the cell-like place was fetid and noisome, and the man felt as if he would suffocate. Fortunately he had carried with him into the vault a hammer and chisel, and with them, the only instruments he had, he proceeded to cut his way out. The work was slow and tedious, and required two hours and a half of incessant labor. He succeeded at last, however, and was taken more dead than alive from the vault. The wonder is that he did not suffocate.—New Orleans Picayune.

Beecher, on Sunday last, launched his curse at Ben Butler. Around his form he drew the awful circle of the Plymouth Church, and on his head, aye, even on its hairless crown he launched the curse of Beecher, in the following words:

Cursed of God and of all men may be that man who counsels the red hand of war, except when needed to fight for national existence. The only war we want is the war of righteousness. Let kings war, let aristocrats war, but the nobles of this great Republic should know the fellowship of man, and instead of the red hand of war let them put around their neighbors the arm of fellowship, and dwell with them in harmony, in unity, in sympathy, and in love.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1870.

OUR NEW DRESS.

According to promise, we are out to-day in our new dress and enlarged form; although, owing to a number of delays and obstructions, it has been done, like a certain minister of our acquaintance got his wife, "after a hard scuffle."

The enlargement and new outfit has cost us a large amount of money; hence we are compelled to call on all who are in arrears for subscription and advertising to settle up. This, as a matter of business, we must most earnestly insist on.

We shall put the red cross mark on the papers of those in arrears, during this and next week, and, if after a reasonable time we do not receive a remittance, we shall, though reluctantly, have to erase their names from our subscription books.

We want a live, active agent for the SENTINEL in every county in the State, who will obtain subscribers, collect bills, &c. [illegible]

We shall now have more space to devote to general news, correspondence and other useful general reading, and intend to make the SENTINEL worthy the patronage it may receive. In the meantime we want several thousands of new cash subscribers, and hope all the old ones who are in arrears will pay up and continue.

THE FREE FIGHT.

We are glad to be able to announce that Gen. Clingman is fast recovering from the wounds received in his late fight with the editor of the Sentinel. The editor cannot use his right hand and shows a "full stop" in his forehead, over the left eye, made by the General's stick. We cannot lay blame to ourself for having inflicted severe punishment on the General with a heavy cane, we were forced to do it.

It is stated in the Standard of Saturday, on rumor, that the General knocked the editor down; this is an error. He did not knock us down, nor did we knock him down. Nor did he strike us without warning, as has been said by some. He gave us such warning as might have been expected from a bold, magnanimous foe.

When we get proper use of our hand, sufficient to write, we shall give a relation of the "Morgan street fight," between Turner and Clingman, as it actually occurred, on Saturday last, which we shall do in the same exact and impartial manner that we did the narrative of the Davie street, Fayetteville street and Tucker's back-yard fights.

Gen. Clingman has recently been relieved by Congress, from his disabilities incurred in his first fight; we hope Doctors Haywood and McKee may soon relieve him of any disabilities incurred in his Morgan street fight on Saturday last.

The Statesville AMERICAN in an article upon impeachment, says:

"If Gov. Holden does not know the sentiment of the people towards him, we would say, it was less favorable now than it was at the time of the August election—the revolution is still onward—and the voice of the people is for "impeachment," whatever the Legislature may do, or omit doing."

This is true. From every quarter of the State comes up a cry demanding the impeachment of those officials who have violated the trusts confided to them—violated their oaths to support the Constitution and laws. The people very properly demand that example be made of these men, as a warning to all future officers who may feel disposed to assume powers not given by the Constitution. If the first offence goes unpunished, what may we not expect hereafter?

The New York Tribune says:

"The new Governor of Alabama took the oath, and would have taken possession of the Executive office had not United States troops prevented. These have since been withdrawn, and the Republican Governor and Treasurer hold office now by the material aid of a Sheriff's posse, composed of negroes."

A Governor duly elected by the voters of Alabama prevented from taking possession of his office by United States troops!

How long, Oh Lord, how long, are such outrages upon civil liberty to be submitted to by Americans?

◆

PRESIDENT GRANT informed a gentleman who called on him a few days ago, "that he looked upon the result of the late election as a very substantial endorsement of his administration (?) though greatly disappointed at the Republican defeat in New York." A few more such endorsements will pass him out of the White House.

◆

The Tallahassee Floridian, in alluding to the rumor that Littlefield had turned over to Col. Woodfin, Agent of the W. N. C. R. R. Co., a million and a half of Florida bonds, speaks thus encouragely of the prospects of their early redemption by the State:

"We are sorry for North Carolina. [illegible] has she been "the victim of misplaced confidence"—first by taking to her [illegible] the most accomplished scoundrel [illegible] adventurer of modern times, and last [illegible] that Florida will hold her [illegible]sible for a dollar of the million [illegible] of bonds that same adventurer [illegible] out of. A provision in the [illegible] is fatal to their validity."

[illegible] BROWN, of Missouri, is now said [illegible] the coming man." We hope he [illegible] it for granted that all the [illegible] "come" too.

GOV. HOLDEN said, a few years ago, that he would "learn lessons of wisdom at the feet of the immortal Brownlow, as Saul did at the feet of Gamaliel." His after acts gave evidence of the seriousness of the expression. We hoped that the "immortal" list would end with Holden, who has shown himself to be a fit conclusion of an infamous beginning, but other little souls have arisen to aspire to greatness, not in good deeds,—but in crime. A ray of nobility of purpose has never beamed upon them, and they are left to grope about in the darkness of their own wicked creation and villainous designs. Scott, the Governor of South Carolina, by Providential infliction, has joined the band. The example of Holden in his efforts to destroy civil liberty in North Carolina, and upon its ruins to erect a throne of military despotism, is being studiously followed by Scott. In the Laurens District he has quartered about 1,000 troops, and has arrested and incarcerated a number of the most prominent citizens. Writs of habeas corpus have been issued for the release of the prisoners, but no attention has been paid to them.—Scott, by his military intimidation and fraud, succeeded in carrying the late election in his State by a large majority. The election has gone by some time, and one would think that the occasion for arresting citizens had also passed. But our readers will observe that he not only continues to make arrests, but refuses to recognize the writs of habeas corpus issued for their release. We have not learned whether or not the Courts of that State have "exhausted" themselves in endeavoring to release the prisoners, as did ours. Perhaps the Courts "practically sustain" Gov. Scott, as Judge Pearson did Gov. Holden.

The people can see by the conduct of Scott what Gov. Holden and Judge Pearson had in store for them, had it not been for Judge Brooks and the result of the late election. Sufficient developments have come to light to show that Holden, with Judge Pearson's (practical) permission, had determined upon arresting and trying by military court martial, a large number of the most respectable citizens of our State. Judge Brooks and the election saved us, but the people of South Carolina are more unfortunate. Our people can see, however, in Scott's present movement, what Holden had determined to do in North Carolina.

THE STANDARD, of Saturday, in speaking of the bill introduced into the Senate on that day, to reduce the salary of the Superintendent of Public Instruction to $50 per annum, with no Clerk and no traveling expenses, says, that the "plain intent of the bill is to strike the head from the system, &c." If Mr. Ashley, Editor of the STANDARD, alludes to himself as the "head of the system," we would respectfully suggest to him that he is mistaken. This bill will only cut off a caudal appendage, which is a terrible burden to the system, everything appropriated for the support of the system being required to sustain the appendage. The system never having a head, it is proposed to give it one, at the same time lop off all incumbrances and dead weight.

Roderick R. Butler, recently re-elected to Congress from the 1st Tennessee District, will be tried in Washington City soon, upon a charge of forgery preferred against him by the Pension Office. He proclaims his innocence, and points to his re-election to prove it. Whittemore was re-elected, but was nevertheless guilty, or, so adjudged.

A cotemporary says:

The attitude of the President is truly an unenviable one to-day. It is that of a ruler deliberately setting himself up as a dictator, to compel the vote of a people, to whose unrestricted franchise he owes his own elevation. It is that of a chief magistrate, so little comprehending the duties and dignities of his position, as to play the partisan at municipal elections, and summon to his aid every auxiliary that by a loose construction of his own prerogatives, and a looser construction of the laws of Congress, he can possibly make available. It is that of a very common man, clothed with uncommon responsibilities, having no higher appreciation of the Presidential office than as a bureau of appointments, merely to conciliate support, or an arsenal of military stores, to intimidate, when conciliation is no longer to be bought. Is it strange that he should be disappointed? What reason had he for else than disappointments could legitimately crown a policy so unstatesmanlike, so sordid and meretricious, so unworthy the chief of a great people?

SPEECH FROM THE GOVERNOR ELECT, GRATZ BROWN.—ST. LOUIS, Nov. 30.—At the Gretz Brown serenade last night, the Governor elect, in reply to a congratulatory speech by Charles P. Johnson, reiterated the statement that the battle was fought for equal freedom and rights to all men.—He said there are significant signs that the late opponents to the Liberal movements are accepting the situation, and that there will be no further hostility; that there should be unanimity among the whole American people on this point. He congratulated his friends that Missouri had taken the initiative in this direction, and repeated that the Democrats had been as heroic as the liberal Republicans, and urged all to go forward to the problems of the future, with an eye single to the highest development of individual freedom and equality in their several organizations.—He added, that more triumphs are to be achieved in the hereafter; that we are only on the eve of the greatest of social developments, and concluded by saying: "I can only recognize now that the State needs absolute peace, internal development of her resources, wise adaptation of the laws to labor, and an absolute honesty of the administration. These, I can promise you, so far as Executive influence goes. If the people will help me, before God I will give them a new era in Missouri and the great West."

REMOVAL OF THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.—An adjourned meeting of persons interested in the removal of the National Capital, was held in St. Louis on Monday, and an Association, to be known as the National Capital Removal Association of St. Louis, was formed, and a Constitution adopted. The object is to adopt measures, which may be necessary to cause the removal of the Capital from Washington to some point in the Mississippi Valley.

They are recruiting a great many negroes in Tennessee for the U. S. Army. These black soldiers are sent off to Texas as fast as they are made proficient in the use of arms. It is a question whether they are expected to fight white men or Indians.

RESOLUTIONS FROM THE HOUSE.

A resolution instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives in Congress to endeavor to have the State relieved from the direct tax on real estate.

A resolution calling on the Public Treasurer for certain statistics.

A resolution of enquiry relative to the sale of the States interest in the Cape Fear Navigation Company.

Mr. McClammy gave reasons why the resolution should pass.

A resolution, introduced some days since by Price, col., authorizing the employment of such assistance as was actually necessary for the Doorkeepers, not to exceed $2 per day, was taken up.

The motion being lost Mr. Graham said that under the impression that the authority that had been given by the last Legislature, (the same not having been repealed,) that certain parties had been employed and acting for several days. Their services having been rendered he thought, that they should be paid, and favored an amendment to that effect, let the fate of the resolution be what it would.

Price, col., advocated the passage of the resolution, and stated that such was usual heretofore, some three or four having been so employed by the last Legislature.

Mr. Love opposed the resolution, that in any event, it was not necessary to pay $2 per day for the service, when it was well known that numbers were about this city anxious to do such work at $1 per day.—He was aware that there was a small army of such employees about the Capitol during last session. He was for dispensing with all unnecessary expenses.

Mr. Murphy moved the reference of the whole matter to the Committee on Public Grounds, &c., which was carried.

Mr. Graham introduced a resolution to pay the assistants, heretofore employed by the Doorkeepers, $2 per day; referred to Committee on Public Grounds.

Mr. Norment introduced a resolution to raise a joint Select Committee of 8, three on the part of the Senate and five on the part of the House, on the subject of per diem and mileage of members and officers of the Legislature, carried.

Mr. Murphy: A resolution to raise a Joint Committee on Roads, Rivers, Bridges, &c.; carried.

CALENDAR.

A bill relating to Municipal elections, was read the third time.

Mr. Graham moved to amend by striking out 30 and inserting 90 days residence to constitute an elector, &c.

This motion elicited considerable discussion, participated in by Messrs. Olds, Moore, of Craven, Robbins, of Rowan, Lehman, Jones, of Mecklenburg, King and Mauney in opposition, and Messrs. Warren, Gilmer, Troy, Whitesides and McClammy in favor of the amendment.

The question being put, the amendment was lost by a vote of 29 to 11.

Mr. Graham changed his vote to the negative in order to move a reconsideration of the vote, which he did, and on his motion the further consideration of the subject was postponed until Friday next at 12 o'clock.

A bill repealing an ordinance of the Convention relative to certain powers conferred on the Code Commission, was unanimously passed, the effect of which is equivalent to an abolishment of the Commission.

On Mr. Love's motion the rules were suspended and the bill was transmitted at once to the House for concurrence.

Mr. Graham moved a suspension of the rules to permit the passage of a bill authorizing the Commissioners of incorporated towns to purchase and hold lands for cemeteries; carried, and the bill passed its several readings.

On motion of Mr. Johnston, the rules were suspended and the bill passed its third reading. Adjourned.

"STARING AT LADIES."

Mayor Baxter, of Louisville, is decidedly ungallant, or the precise reverse—we leave it to our readers. The City Council recently passed "an ordinance to protect females while passing along the streets." The alleged reason for the enactment was the offensive staring at the ladies by men standing on the streets. The Mayor vetoed the bill, saying that if any man insulted a woman he could be arrested for disorderly conduct, under existing laws. A simple look, even if prolonged, did not, in his opinion, constitute an insult, and he did not believe the ladies would resent it. "For my part," continues the worthy official, "I think there is nothing on earth more pleasing than a handsome, well-behaved woman; and the man that cannot appreciate and be grateful for such, ought to be fined; but to fine a man for looking with admiration upon the ladies is something I cannot approve of."

But there were more than sentimental reasons involved, and the Mayor thought he avoided great trouble by the interposition of a veto. We quote his own words:

"If this ordinance should become a law, all our adult male population would be liable to be sent to jail, and I am afraid not a few would have to be fined; while it is even possible that some of your honorable selves might be surprised to find yourselves victims to its sweeping prohibitions. Besides, our police force would, in my opinion, have to be largely increased to carry out its provisions, and we seem to have too many ordinances now that are impracticable of enforcement without passing others that would be open to the same objection."

◆

Senator Williams, of Oregon, had a protracted interview with the President today. It is stated that Senator Williams will be appointed Attorney General in place of Mr. Akerman, and that arrangements have been made by which Akerman, who, as well as Williams, is a strong supporter of the Administration, will be elected to the United States Senate from Georgia. The recent visit of Senator Cameron and other prominent Pennsylvania politicians to Georgia was partly to pave the way for Akerman's election. The influence of those Pennsylvania Republicans being exerted for Akerman in the interest of the Administration, it is expected that the President will select a Pennsylvanian for Commissioner of Internal Revenue or Commissioner of Patents.

oct 12-tf W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & CO.

PROF. CHANDLER of New York City, in a lecture delivered by him at Cooper Institute, March 19, 1870, said:
"It is hardly necessary to enlarge upon the terrible accidents which have resulted from the use of unsafe kerosene; you have only to read the newspapers from day to day to see them. It is stated by some that these are exaggerated; that these accidents never occur, and that you and I never had a friend burned to death; still we do have an enormous number of terrible accidents from petroleum. In the last seven months of 1869 there were fifty five kerosene accidents in New York, resulting in twenty-three deaths, eighteen serious injuries and fourteen slight ones. The total result for the year 1869, for the City of New York which I myself have cut from newspapers is fifty-two fatal accidents from dangerous kerosene, fifty severe and six slight, in all 108 persons to my knowledge, from my own reading have been injured by kerosene in one year."

The Sentinel.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1870.

☞ THEO. N. RAMSAY, as Business Clerk, is authorized to make contracts and give receipts, &c., &c.

QUICK WORK.—THE SENTINEL appears this morning in enlarged form and printed—every word of it—in new type; and this has been done since yesterday morning. Yesterday morning at 8 o'clock, there were not more than two columns of the forms set in type; all the rest has been set up and printed since that hour. We are indebted to our employees for this rather extraordinary performance; we have a corps of most efficient, sober and capable printers, and we most heartily thank them for their assistance so willingly rendered, in getting out in our new dress this morning.

WYMAN, the wizzard, very kindly gave a free exhibition of his wonderful tricks to the inmates of the Insane Asylum. They enjoyed the Professor's tricks exceedingly. Dr. Grissom deserves the thanks of the people of our State for his indefatigable efforts to do all that will in any way conduce to the comfort and pleasure, mental recreation and restoration of the unfortunates who are under his care.

BISHOP GIBBONS.—This learned and distinguished Prelate of the Catholic Church, and Bishop of this Diocese, arrived in this City on last Wednesday, and, as before stated, was the guest of Wm. Grimes, Esq.

On last Saturday morning a large number of persons assembled at St. John's Church, where the Bishop administered the Sacrament of Confirmation to several persons. The ceremony was both beautiful and impressive and all felt the great solemnity of the occasion. The eloquent and tender words of encouragement and caution addressed by the Bishop to the candidates, not only found their way to the hearts of those to whom they were chiefly directed, but touched a responsive chord within the bosoms of all present.

On Sunday morning, Mass was celebrated by Rev. J. V. McNamara, during which Bishop Gibbons delivered a forcible and comprehensive discourse upon the "Sign of the Cross."

At 7 1-2 o'clock, after Vespers were finished, the Bishop gave some exceedingly interesting sketches and details of the Ecumenical Council, recently in session in Rome.

Both morning and evening the Church was crowded to its utmost capacity and numbers came that could not procure a seat, and the strict attention given to the Right Reverend gentleman, indicated the great interest which he excited.

Bishop Gibbons is spoken of, not only as an accomplished gentleman, polished scholar and eloquent divine, but as an earnest and zealous Christian.

REV. A. B. EARLE.—This distinguished Divine, assisted by Dr. Pritchard, Pastor of the Baptist Church of this City, Dr. Wingate, of Wake Forest College, Dr. Royall, of the Raleigh Female Seminary, and numerous other ministers of the Baptist Denomination, resident and from abroad, are now conducting at their Church in our City, a most interesting, as well as extraordinary revival. Dr. Earle has a national reputation as a revivalist, and from the success of his efforts since here, he is eminently entitled to the position he has won. There is nothing of the flourish of oratory about his sermons, but they consist in simple and touching appeals to the hearts and finer feelings of his auditors—evincing at once the earnestness and christian zeal of the speaker, and his anxiety and sympathy for the spiritual welfare of his fellow beings. He is now on an errand of mercy, and let us hope that the greatest good may result from it. Services will be conducted at the Baptist Church at the hours of 2 1-2 and 7 o'clock P. M. of each day. Let our citizens continue to show their appreciation of Mr. Earle's efforts as they have done, by crowding the church to its utmost capacity.

THE GRAND LODGE of North Carolina met in session last night. A large number of delegates are present in the City.

H. J. POPE, Esq., living near Weldon, killed two splendid deer at one shot, on Thursday morning last. Stone, of the News, got a fine quarter.

REGULAR monthly meeting of the Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, will take place this evening at 7 1-2 o'clock, at Fireman's Hall.

AN attempt was made last week, by parties confined therein, to burn the Iredell county jail, at Statesville. The fire was discovered in time to prevent much damage, or the escape of any of the prisoners. So says the American.

THE GRAND CHAPTER of North Carolina, which held its session in Wilmington last week, elected the following officers for the ensuing year:

Grand High Priest, W. H. Murdoch, Salisbury; Deputy H. P., R. B. Vance, Asheville; Grand King, John Nichols, Raleigh; Grand Scribe, H. H. Munson, Wilmington; G. Treas., Thos. W. Brown, Wilmington; G. Sec'y., T. B. Carr, Wilmington; G. C. H., W. Robinson, Goldsboro'; G. P. S., W. Simpson, Raleigh; G. R. A. C., W. W. Dunn, Kinston; G. M. 3d V., T. M. Gardner, Wilmington; G. M. 2d V., R. H. Bradley, Raleigh; G. M. 1st V., C. M. Van Orsdell, Wilmington; G. Tiler, E. Turlington; Committee on Foreign Correspondence, John Nichols, R. B. Vance, H. H. Munson; Finance Committee, A. Martin, P. W. Fanning, T. M. Gardner.

The editor of the Charlotte Observer has been presented with a beet measuring in circumference 26 1-2 inches, and weighing 7 pounds.

THE FRIENDS OF TEMPERANCE.—It was shown at the State Council which met in this City last week, there were 94 subordinate Councils in the State, with an aggregate membership of about 5000. The associate membership number largely, consisting mostly of ladies. Our noble women always take a lead in good works, and we are not surprised to find so many enlisted in the cause of Temperance. The order of the Friends is doing admirably, and we heartily wish it God speed.

WE LEARN THAT our much esteemed young friend Theo. N. Ramsey, Esq., was chosen last week, President of the State Council, Friends of Temperance. This honor, and expression of confidence, is fully merited. Mr. R. is a devoted friend to the noble cause of Temperance, and we are pleased to see such a complimentary evidence of appreciation of his services on the part of the State Council.

COULD NOT VOTE.—Renfrow, the mail agent from Raleigh to Portsmouth, who misrepresented Halifax county in the last Legislature, and who had been selected by the Rads there to misrepresent it again, but could not because he has not lived in the county for two years, tried to vote at Weldon at the late special election, but when brought to his "wire dire," (voire dire,) as our old friend Capel Sherrin, (well known to our young friend, James Simmons of Weldon,) used to say, why, Renfrow could not swear that he was a citizen of Halifax county, and ergo was refused the privilege of voting there.

THE GREAT SOUTHERN PIANO FACTORY.—We refer with special pleasure to the advertisement of the Great Southern Piano Manufactory of Messrs. Wm. Knabe & Co., of Baltimore. This factory is now one of the largest in the world, employing three hundred and fifty hands, and turning out over forty instruments per week.

The Knabe Piano has by its superiority not only well nigh driven those of Northern manufacture from the home market, but also enjoys a large sale in New York, Philadelphia and throughout the entire North and West, besides the largely increased Southern trade. They have received no less than 65 first premiums, among which we note those at the fairs at New Orleans, Jackson, Memphis, Wilmington, Richmond, Macon, &c., received this season. For durability we would specially recommend them as being made in a Southern City, with a special view to the trying changes of Southern climate.

PORTABLE SAW MILLS, MACHINERY, &c. Mr. George Page was the original inventor of the first Circular Saw Mill ever successfully used for sawing lumber from the log. Thirty years of experience has enabled the firm of George Page & Co., of Baltimore, to perfect the original design, and to present to the world the most complete Portable Saw Mill ever known. The recent improvements, 'Patent Friction Feed' and 'Independent and Simultaneous Patent Ratchett Headblocks,' place the Page Mills beyond competition.

The large number of these machines in use all over the country sufficiently attest their value.

Messrs. Page & Co. are also extensively engaged in the manufacture of Portable and Stationary Steam Engines, Boilers, Grist Mills, Woodworking Machinery, and general machine work of every description. We refer with pleasure to their advertisement in another column.

"YARBOROUGH HOUSE.—While in Raleigh, last week, we were the guest of Dr. Blacknall, the accomplished proprietor of the above well known house. Hundreds of strangers were in the city, nine-tenths of whom stopped with the Doctor. It is by far the most popular hotel of the place, and justly so, as it is remarkably well kept, thoroughly clean, and presided over by one of the most gentlemanly landlords it has ever been our fortune to stop with. The Yarborough House is headquarters of all the politics of the Legislature, and only there can a visitor be sure of meeting all the celebrities. If you go to Raleigh don't fail to go to the Yarborough."—Tarboro' Southerner.

This a is deserved compliment. Raleigh has Hotel accommodations now will compare with any in the South. A short time ago we alluded to our private boarding houses, which are numerous and excellent. Since that time another lady, from Granvile—one who, we are informed by those who are acquainted with her management, is thoroughly qualified for her position.—Mrs. L. W. Jenkins' Boarding House is located on Fayetteville street, below the Yarborough House, at the late residence of Judge Henry. Her terms are most satisfactory, and accommodations unsurpassed.

A PROMINENT colored man of Wilmington, who is opposed to the manner republican patronage is distributed in his District, will make complaint of the same before the Committee on Reconstruction, at the approaching session of Congress. Application at the same time will be made for the appointment of certain colored men to important positions in Wilmington.

OUR WILMINGTON contemporaries speak in most complimentary terms of the Weber Burlesque Troupe. Although we saw their performance, and much more of them than was necessary, we could find but little, if anything, to commend. We certainly saw no evidences of the artist about their rendition.

A man by the name of Andrew Allery, a native of England, and 1st mate of the Brig Neptune's Car, was drowned at Wilmington on Thursday morning.

SOME ONE HAS sent the editor of the Tallahasse Floridian a picture of Burgen hanging young Murray in Alamance. He says of it:

"Let that scene be transferred to canvass and hung up in the Capitol of North Carolina as a memorial of the time of Holden and Rampant Radicalism."

A better "memorial of Holden" than this will be up in the Capitol in a few days—one which will be much more satisfactory to the people.

A PAIR OF NEW SHOES.—If there is any human being in this lovely land, who has no recollection of, at some time in his or her life, feeling a bounding joy—a sort of unearthly ecstatic bliss—on becoming the lucky possessor of a pair of new shoes, we envy not the waste, hollow void of that person's juvenile reminiscences.

We had a slight revival of the old, pleasant sensation yesterday morning, when Mr. Pence, the Express Messenger, called on us with a package marked "D. H.," which, on opening, we found to contain a pair of double-leather morocco shoes, put up at the establishment of that enterprising firm, J. A. Leach & Co., of Thomasville.

By some means there is a remarkable coincidence between the size of our feet and these shoes; and also between their arrival and the perceptible decay of our old ones.

Thomasville has been called "the Lynn of North Carolina," and among the enterprising manufacturers of that thriving village, none are more enterprising than the firm of J. A. Leach & Co., and no shoes are more popular than those made by them.

MORE THAN THREE THOUSAND PAGES A YEAR.—Littell's Living Age, being published in weekly numbers of sixty-four pages each, gives to its readers more than three thousand double-column octavo pages a year of the most valuable, instructive and entertaining reading of the day. "History, biography, fiction, poetry, wit, science, politics, criticism, art,—what is not here?" It is the only compilation that presents with a satisfactory completeness as well as freshness, the best literature of the almost innumerable and generally inaccessible European quarterlies, monthlies and weeklies,—a literature embracing the productions of the ablest and most cultured writers living. It is therefore indispensable to every one who desires a "thorough compendium of all that is admirable and noteworthy in the literary world," who has a taste for the best literature, or desires to keep pace with the intellectual progress of the age.

Considering the quantity of reading matter furnished, the subscription price ($8.00 a year) is very cheap; but for those who desire the cream of both home and foreign literature, a still cheaper offer is made, of which the lovers of the best literature will avail themselves in great numbers: viz., for $10.00 remitted to the publishers of "The Living Age," they will send that magazine weekly, and either one of the following, for a year, "Harper's Monthly," "Weekly," or "Bazar," "The Atlantic Monthly," "The Galaxy," "Old and New," "Lippincott's Monthly," or "Appleton's Journal" (weekly); or for $8.50, they will send The Living Age and "The Riverside Magazine" or "Our Young Folks," for a year.

The Living Age is pronounced by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, The Nation, New York, and other high critical authority to be "the best of all our eclectic publication;" and we can do our readers no better service than by calling their careful attention to it.

THE RESULT OF THE late Missouri election is not surprising, when we think of the candidate of the opposition for the Governorship—Brown. Grant undertook to put him down, evidently forgetting the strength of the Brown family. Besides all of that name, every Smith and Jones would go for a Brown out of common sympathy.

CAN A WOMAN KEEP A SECRET?—The Nineteenth Century, a periodical published in Charleston, thus treats this much mooted point:

"Men say women can't keep a secret. It's just the reverse—women can, men can't. Women carry with them secrets that would kill any man. Women never tells; man always does. Woman suffers and dies; man blabs and lives. Man cannot keep a secret; woman cannot make it known. What is sport to the man is death to the woman. Adam was a sneak. Eve would have kept the apple a secret. Be ye faithful. Whoever heard a woman talk about her lover's fiascos? Everybody has heard a man gossip. Man delights in telling of his illicit conquests; woman would cut her tongue out first. Men are coarse in their club room talk; women refined in their parlor conversation. Who ever heard of a woman telling of her lover? Who has not listened to the dissipation of men? Men boast; women don't. Women never tell tales out of school; men are always blabbing. So down with another old adage. Woman can keep a secret, and her ability to do so is proved by the conduct of a St. John (New Brunswick) girl, who did not tell her lover she was worth four millions in her own right until after her marriage."

It is not often that a fugitive husband can hope to receive the warm endorsement of the bereaved spouse whom he has deserted. There must be, after all, something noble and lofty in the nature of the man who, in spite of his evasion of the conjugal ties, still extorts from the much-wronged woman whom he has abandoned a touching encomium upon his merits and not too flattering reference to his personal "taking" ways. A case of this kind has occurred in South Carolina. It happened in this wise: A carpet-bag revenue officer, having had occasion to depart in a surreptitious manner from his wife, so departed. Suspecting that the misguided carpet-bagger had wended his way to Louisville, the heroic "better half," fondly mindful of her husband's many excellent qualities, thus wrote concerning him to the Chief of Police of that City:

"He came into Kentucky to go into politicks he was one of John Brown's men and was with him in Meraland he is a good stumpt speaker can edit a nuspaper deliver lectures and teach school and is quite a friend to the colored people he tryes to make himself notable whare ever he is he was a sessor of enternal revnew before he went to Kentucky—he has sandy mustash and ways about 145."

What a charming photograph of the average carpet-bagger!

The colored Republicans of the First Senatorial District of Pennsylvania, intend to run O. V. Catto, colored, for the State Senate, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Watt, white Republican. On the result of this election depends the political complexion of the Senate.

EDITORIAL SELECTIONS.

That the ends of agriculture may be subserved it is now proposed to consolidate the Tribune with the Cornhill Magazine.

General Hooker wants to fight Canada, and is quite as anxious as the other general hooker.

Hon. James P. Holcombe has been invited to deliver a memorial address at the Washington and Lee University on the 19th of January, the birthday of Gen. R. E. Lee.

The Courier-Journal avers that the editor of the Mobile Register "wears nothing now but a pair of black kids." This thing must be looked into. If a member of the Fourth Estate can be thus demoralized by the blonde ballet, how can common humanity preserve its innocence?

One good turn deserves another. The New Yorkers who imported sparrows to eat the worms, now complain of a visitation of owls, which eat the sparrows, and are looking about for some larger and more warlike bird to eat the owls.

CUBA.—A Cuban gentleman now in Washington says, the present condition of affairs in Cuba is easily stated. That the insurrectionists will be able to hold out against Spain for several years, and that if they can get arms now, they will conclude the war in their favor the next summer. He says the insurrection can never be put down.

Fourteen vacancies in the Legislature of Mississippi are to be filled by a special election, to be held on the 20th of December. They include three seats in the State Senate, one being that vacated by United States Senator Revels.

Governor Scott, of South Carolina, in his message, says the good people of the State are opposed to, and fear his administration. The Charleston Courier replies, that it is because he and his administration are, opposed to the good people of the State.

The Republicans are very fond of showing how much they have reduced the taxes received into the Treasury; but they do not show us, for they cannot show us, any sensible reduction in the taxes their protective system forces us to pay into the pockets of the Eastern manufacturers.

Among other bills to be brought before Congress is one to "relieve members from impecuniosity." Of the precise nature of the privileges thus to be accorded, we are yet in ignorance, but they, no doubt, embrace a fair share of the immunities enjoyed by the House of Lords. As it is, they exercise special police and judicial functions, entire freedom from arrest, and are invested with the franking privilege; it requires but little more to elevate them to the condition of a regular order of nobility.

If there was a State in all the "Union" which would have been "fixed" by military occupation, during the November elections, Maryland was that State. But the people of that plucky and undaunted Commonwealth were not a bit scared, and, as it appears, had really little to fear from the presence of the "boys in blue." The following significant dialogue, which recently cropped out in the columns of the Eastern Shoreman, tells a curious story:

"As the eleven United States soldiers were returning from Princess Anne, the cars stopped at Seaford, Delaware, and the United States Marshal, Houston, of that place, entered the car, and asked the Captain how the election passed off.

"'Oh, fine, very fine,' said the captain.

"Marshal—Was there a quiet election?

"Captain—Perfectly, sir; no disturbance.

"Marshal—And the Radicals all voted?

"Captain—I guess so.

"Marshal—Well, how is the election gone?

"Captain—Every d—d Radical is cleaned up, never will be heard of any more down there, dear sir; dead as a herring; gone up Salt river in a leaky craft.

"Marshal—What! didn't you go down to protect the Radicals?

"Captain—Not a d—d bit of it! I am a Democrat, and every man under me is a Democrat, and in two years we intend to clean up that d—d rascal, old granny Grant.

"The Marshal fled in dismay."

REPUBLICAN DOCTRINE IN 1860.

The following resolution was adopted by the National Republican Convention that nominated Mr. Lincoln:

Resolved, That the maintenance inviolate of the rights of the States, and especially the right of each State to control its own domestic institutions according to its own judgment exclusively, is essential to that balance of power on which the perfections and balance of our political fabric depend; and we denounce the lawless invasion by armed force of the soil of any State or Territory, no matter under what pretext, as the gravest of crimes.

This same party sends troops into North Carolina, New York, Georgia and other States to control the elections, and is doing all in its power to build up a centralized government by destroying the principle of local and state government in all directions. What are the pledges of such a party worth?

FINANCIAL CAUCUS TO BE HELD.—The Washington correspondent of the New York Journal of Commerce says: An intention has been announced on the part of certain gentlemen in Congress, who take a special interest in shaping financial legislation, to call a private caucus of a few members of the present Congress who are re-elected to the next, for the purpose of considering the financial situation and interchanging views as to what further is necessary to be done on the funding and currency question. Since Congress adjourned a complete revolution has taken place in some of their financial views, but the general tendency of the change has been to convert Congressional financiers to the healthy belief that the less they tinker with the finances the better it will be for the country.

MR. EDITOR, SIR:—The object of the above enterprise since its commencement, now nearly two years, has been to induce immigration to our State, and to turn the tide from the great West, to our Sunny South, also to call their attention to the superior advantages and inducements we hold out over all other States in the Union. To do this we have made every effort to show our land owners that by selling one-half of their large tracts to energetic men with money, at a reasonable price and on easy terms to enable them to improve their property, which would have advanced the remainder double what they asked for the whole tract eighteen months ago. Our charges being so reasonable only 2½ per cent. and nothing unless a sale is perfected, that both county and city property, owners can avail themselves of this opportunity of offering for sale lands of every kind, without any outlay.

Now being the season of the year when people have leisure to travel; and are now visiting our State in search of homes, we invite all who have lands to dispose of to call on or address us.

Tuesday Night Dispatches.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5th.—One hundred and seventy members of the House of Representatives answered to the roll. Duke, of Virginia, was seated on taking the old oath. Sypher was seated from the first Louisiana District.

The President's Message was read. After congratulating the country on the general peace and prosperity, he regretted that a free exercise of the elective franchise has, by violence and intimidation, been denied to citizens in several places, lately in rebellion, and the verdict of the people thereby reversed.

Referring to the proclamation of the Republic in France, he says that should the present struggle result in attaching the hearts of the French to simpler forms of Republican Government, it will be a subject of still greater satisfaction to the American people, who could not be indifferent to the spread of American political ideas in a great and highly civilized country like France, and if an opportunity for interposing the good offices of the United States in restoring peace shall present itself, that action will be heartily taken.

As to Cuba, he says that the condition of the insurrection has not materially changed.

He renews his recommendation to annex San Domingo, and says that as soon as it is known that the project is abandoned by the United States, negotiations will be opened by some of the European Powers for the possession of the Bay of Samana. He urges early action on Congress and suggests that by a joint resolution of the two Houses, the Executive shall be authorized to appoint a Commission to negotiate a treaty with the authorities of San Domingo for the acquisition of that Island, and that an appropriation be made to defray the expenses of the Commission. The question might then be determined either by the action of the Senate on the treaty, or by the action of both Houses on the resolution as in case of Texas. He also calls the attention of Congress to the continuance of the Mexican free Zone and to the Tientsien massacre in China.

In regard to the Alabama claims, he recommends Congress to authorize the appointment of a Commission to take proof as to these claims, and that authority be given for their settlement by the United States, so that the government shall have an ownership of the private claims as well as the responsible control of all the demands against Great Britain.

As regards the Canadian fishery complications, he says that the course of the Canadian authorities has not been marked by friendly feeling and intimates that if they should attempt to enforce a certain act of the Dominion Parliament, it will be his duty to take such steps as may be necessary to protect the interests of citizens of the United States. He asks that power be conferred upon him to suspend the operation of the laws authorizing the transit of merchandise in bond through the United States to Canada, and also to suspend the operation of any laws whereby vessels of the Dominion are permitted to enter the waters of the United States. He also complains of the pretensions of Canada to control the navigation of the St. Lawrence, and argues on the importance and right of the United States to navigate that river without let or hindrance.

In regard to the depressed condition of the foreign commerce of the United States, he recommends a liberal policy towards the Pacific Mail between California and China and Japan. He also recommends that measures may be taken to permit American merchants to purchase vessels built abroad, as well as to encourage American ship building.

In regard to the currency, the President, says, that the approach of a specie basis is very gratifying, but the instability of the currency, is very prejudicial to prosperity. He thinks that the time has arrived, when by wise and prudent legislation, Congress should look to a policy which would place the currency at par with gold at no distant day.

In regard to revenue reform, he says that it means to keep revenue down to what is necessary for the support of the government and to the interest on the public debt, it has his hearty support, but if it means a failure to provide the necessary means to defray all the expenses of the government, he is opposed to it. Revenue reform, he says, has not been defined by its advocates. It seemed, however, to be accepted as something which was to supply every man's wants without any cost or effort on his part. Laughter.

He recommends the abolition of the franking privilege and reform in the civil service; particularly as to the mode of appointing subordinate officials.

R. H. GRAVES, } Associate Principals.

THIS SCHOOL which has been for the last twenty years under the exclusive charge of J. H. Horner, will henceforth be conducted under the joint supervision of the above principals, with competent assistant instructors in every department.

The course of study has been extended, and boys will be thoroughly fitted for advanced classes in College, especial reference being had to the qualifications requisite to admission into the Senior classes in the University of Virginia, of Washington Lee University. The latter of which has again conferred upon this school the honor of a scholarship in that institution.

A regular course of study in Natural Sciences, Commercial Science and the Modern Languages has been added to the school for those students, who, desiring to acquire only a complete business education may wish to substitute these studies for Latin and Greek.

No pains will be spared to render the instruction in the school efficient and to furnish to students the most ample facilities for thorough preparation for College or for the acquisition of a good business education; and the principals flatter themselves that their long and successful career as teachers is a sufficient guarantee that the school will be in all respects worthy the public confidence and support.

The Spring Session will open the second Monday in January.

MOUNT VERNON LADIES' ASSOCIATION OF THE UNION.

The following is the report of the proceedings of the Grand Council of the Mount Vernon Association, which assembled at Mount Vernon on the 21st of June, which the Vice-Regent, of Maine, was delegated to prepare and publish:

In response to a call from the Regent, a general council of this Association was held at Mount Vernon, commencing on the 21st of June, 1870, continuing its session for several days. Eleven Vice-Regents were in attendance, representing, in fair proportion, the Northern, Southern, Eastern and Western States of the Union. The Regent, now residing at Mount Vernon, presided over the deliberations, which were characterized by entire unanimity and hearty co-operation in endeavors to advance the best interest of the Association.

The following statement embodies, in the briefest possible form, the reports submitted to the council and the resolutions adopted by it. Through a general circulation of this statement it is intended that the public shall be made aware of the condition, labors and future prospects of the Association, and it is hoped that a knowledge of these will awaken fresh interest in the work of still farther restoring, protecting and beautifying the Home and Burial-place of Washington. Now that the agitations of the past years are over, the officers of the Association feel that it is not inappropriate to bring again to notice this organization, by which they represent the Women of the Union.

It is an organization that by surviving all the perils and dislocations of a great civil war has established its claims to a position among these national objects upon which may meet, harmoniously and healthfully, the combined efforts and sympathies of the whole country.

The only source of revenue for Mount Vernon depends upon the steamer which brings visitors to the place. During three years of the war it was considered unsafe to allow the boat to pass up and down the river, and the Secretary of War in removing the boat deprived the Association of its income. A very moderate claim for damages, amounting to two-thirds of the real loss, was laid before Congress, and after considerable delay the sum of $7,000 was allowed to Mount Vernon on condition that it should be expended in repairs under the supervision of an agent appointed by the government. This has been done and the progress of decay, which was rapidly destroying the place, has been arrested. The steamer was replaced as soon as possible, and immediately after the war, when Washington was thronged with people brought there by pressure of circumstances, a large number found their way to Mount Vernon and the revenue from the boat assumed respectable proportions; but it has gradually fallen off and in ordinary circumstances cannot be regarded as sufficient. The steamer is under the control of Mr. Sykes, of Willard's hotel, Washington, to whose courtesy and kindness the Association is constantly indebted for many favors. The contract between him and the Association which grants him exclusive control of the right to land passengers, was at this meeting of the council renewed for three years. A per centage upon each visitor is paid into the treasury and a considerable amount collected through sales upon the place of photographs, flowers, fruit, canes, &c., all which sources of revenue are developed as much as possible.

Every effort has been made to put the place into a presentable condition, so that those who make pilgrimage to the spot are no longer shocked by the ghastly traces of neglect and dilapidation. The Association, while justly proud of what it has accomplished in this way is obliged to confess that what it has done to gratify national pride has drawn so heavily upon its means that certain other repairs and improvements, equally necessary; though not equally conspicuous, remain untouched, and it is in behalf of these that something must now be attempted.—It is earnestly hoped that these needs will be understood and helpfully recognized by the people for whom the property is held in trust, and to whom its preservation should be a matter of deep interest. First in importance among these claims must be reckoned an adequate protection against fire,—there being none whatever at the present time,—and a thorough system of drainage for the cellars of the mansion and other buildings—their present condition being an unfailing source of malaria and fever and ague to those who have charge of the place. For these two improvements, by which may be secured to this venerable homestead the same protection that is accorded to the humblest dwellings in our cities, the members of the Council unite in making a most earnest appeal to the country. A small sum from each individual to whom these reasonable wants are made known, will swell in the aggregate, to a sum ample sufficient. In the more distant future it is hoped that a permanent fund may be formed, from which a steady income shall be derived. Also it is within the plans of the Board of Vice-Regents to bring under cultivation larger portions of the land, now lying waste for want of means to clear and fertilize. In fact, nothing has been left unthought of, which, while securing the interests of Mount Vernon itself, shall tend also to diminish the necessity for asking aid of the public.

The Regent of the Association whose name has been identified with it from the hour of its birth, whose time and strength and fortune have been in large measure devoted to its services, crowned these sacrifices by consenting to reside upon the spot, undeterred by its loneliness and unhealthiness. By her personal supervision, close economy and wise precautions, she has brought the Association out of debt, and preserved a cordial sympathy of section among the Vice-Regents, which is invaluable in such an affiliation. It is not too much to say that the self-denying enthusiasm which Miss Cunningham has brought to her task is absolutely without a parallel; and the whole country should know that, during all these years, and through all these personal sacrifices, this unselfish and high-minded lady has never accepted one dollar of remuneration, and now attends to all the added duties of her position without a salary, compensated only by the measure of her success in administration, and the grateful recognition of those who know how inestimable have been her services.

The Secretary also resides upon the estate—adding to the stricter duties of her office, those of housekeeper. The head gardener, a scotchman, is admirably qualified for the position he holds. To his other responsibilities is added that of attending to the visitors upon the grounds, and protecting the property from injury.

Several farm hands are employed; there are wagons and an ambulance, for which two mules are kept; there is a greenhouse, which becomes more and more profitable; [illegible] the establishment is on a [illegible] footing for an estate of 200 acres, [illegible] necessarily involves the employment of [illegible] people and the outlay of considerable sums. If the receipts from the boat [illegible] below their present amount, [illegible] be impossible to keep the place in [illegible] without aid. Rigid economy is [illegible] and the public may [illegible] under pressure of [illegible] any alms be asked.

The Association has from time to time received evidences of interest from different persons, which it takes great pleasure in acknowledging. Foremost amongst those stand many recent gifts from friends in New Jersey, which State, stimulated by the energy and enthusiasm of its Vice-Regent, has forwarded furniture, carpets and antiquities to the value of nearly two thousand dollars. To these timely gifts is owing much of the cheerful appearance of the interior, once so desolate and forlorn. All gifts which add to the interest of the place, all objects which were contemporaneous with Washington, are much desired. The plates for printing copies of Washington's will have been presented by Mr. Corcoron of Washington, and he also promises a hundred, varieties of evergreens for the grounds. A velvet carpet upon the staircase was the gift of Mr Kendall, of New York; the old clock at the stair-case landing is among the New Jersey gifts, and a marble bust of Washington has been lately deposited in the banqueting room by its owner, Mrs. Eve, the Vice-Regent for Georgia. A gift doubly valuable for its timeliness to the uses of the Council was that of Mrs. Mitchell, Vice-Regent for Wisconsin—a plated tea set and innumerable cups, saucers, &c. It is not only appropriate but necessary that the annual councils should be held upon the spot, and it is hoped that the time will come when the members can be entertained there, simply but sufficiently, without the present expedients for ekeing out their accommodations. But all these details can well be left till the serious and vital wants of the Association are provided for, and the council therefore once more commend their cause to a generous American public, and ask from it at this time only the means for meeting those expenses upon which the proper preservation of the nation's own property depends.

MARGARET J. M. SWEAT,
Vice-Regent for Maine.

LIFE INSURANCE AS AN INVESTMENT.

THE

WIDOWS AND ORPHANS

BENEFIT LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY
OF NEW YORK.
Cash Assets over $1,500,000,

ISSUES ALL FORMS OF NON FORFEITABLE, WHOLE LIFE AND ENDOWMENT POLICIES, on the Mutual Cash Plan, declaring dividends annually after the first annual premium paid. Assetts exclusively Cash, with no portion of its reserve fund in premiums notes, consequently its "reserve" is stronger than that of any company doing business in this State. No "definite surrender values guaranteed" as an inducement to new business, but reference is made to the average amount paid on each surrendered policy, as shown by the New York Insurance Reports, 1869, as evidence of having paid larger surrender values, than has been given under a minimum "Definite Cash Surrender Value." Death losses have not occurred out of several hundred policy holders in this State, which fact must establish the better ability of the Company to pay larger dividends than companies having an excessive mortality, the result of a selection of bad risks. "Fictitious Dividends" are not declared, but dividends are given from the actual surplus, in accordance with the Company's charter. The attention of the public is invited to the following comparison of cost, demonstrating the advantages over ordinary insurances, of the POLICIES VALUABLE IN LIFE, AS WELL AS AT DEATH!!

THE BROOKLYN LIFE, IS THE ONLY COMPANY IN AMERICA WHICH GUARANTEES

DEFINITE CASH SURRENDER VALUES,

IN CASE A POLICY IS FORFEITED FOR NON-PAYMENT OF PREMIUM.

The BROOKLYN LIFE enjoys the highest reputation for judgment of investment, economy of management, and skill and care in the selection of risks; upon which elements of administration the security of a Life insurance Corporation depends.

The laws of New York compel Companies in that State to calculate the cash value of their Policies, each and every year, and a certain legal standard of reserve and accumulation must be held by the companies to meet all their liabilities.

Insurers in looking around for Companies in which to insure, should carefully seek for this important safeguard. It will be found in the BROOKLYN LIFE.

TWENTY-ONE REASON FOR PREFERRING THIS COMPANY TO ALL OTHERS.

1. Its Cash assets are upwards of $13,000,000,000 00, and constantly increasing.
2. None of this is made up of Promissory Notes, as in many Companies.
3. Its Cash Income per annum is over $5,500,000 00, and steadily growing larger.
4. None of this is composed of the notes of hand of policy holders, as is the case in many Companies.
5. It has paid to Widows and Orphans, and other claimants under policies on deceased members, about $4,000,000 00.
6. Such payments are made in Cash, and not partly in Cancelled Notes, as is the case in many Companies.
7. No deductions are made from the face of a Policy, for Premium Notes when it becomes a claim, as is the case in all Note Companies.
8. The sum of $3,500,000 00, and upwords, in cash divided among Policy Holders, (this included the dividend for the present year,) as profits of the business.
9. All the profits of the business are annually divided among the assured Equitably, instead of being wholly or partially distributed among the Stockholders, as is the case in all "Mixed" and "Proprietary" Companies.
10. Dividends are invariably available, as case in payment of Premiums.
11. The dividends are made from the start, and not postponed until the lapse of several years, as in many Companies.
12. The Society deals Equitably with its policy-holders.
13. The Equitable has made More progress since its organization than any other Life Company in the World.
14. Its risks have been so carefully selected, and its dealings so equitable, that it has never been obliged to contest the payment of a claim at law.
15. Its modes of applying dividends are more numerous and more advantageous than those of any othey Company in the World.
16. It issues all the popular styles of policy, including "Ten Year Non-Forfeiting" and "Endowment Policies."
17. The amount of new business during the year, ending December 1, 1869, was $51,021,011.
18. Its Policies average larger in amount than those of any other Company, showing that Capitalists select the Equitable for purposes of investment.
19. The profits of the business are apportioned to the assured on the "Contribution Plan," which is conceded to be the only equitable mode of division, and not by the mode adopted by many Companies.
20. It is as liberal in the conduct of its business as is consistent with the safety of the assured, and does not sacrifice proper caution to an ambition to increase the nominal amount of its business, as is the case with many new Companies.
21. It is the favorite Company in the United States, as is shown by its new business last year, being nearer $13,000,000 greater than any other Company.
